ROOD REVIEW

THE GENESIS OF MY EXODUS

AUGUST 2020

DEAR TORAH FAN,

As a young boy, my grandmother took me up to the attic of her old farmhouse and showed me the photos of my father's ancestors — bearded Jewish men from Amsterdam. That was the genesis of my journey into the roots of my faith. Then, as a teenager, I did two things in one summer that changed my life: I read through the book of Acts and I went to the Grand Rapids theater to watch a new movie called "Fiddler On The Roof". When I stopped to correlate these experiences, I knew I had missed something in my churchianity upbringing.

Along my journey of faith, I began to understand that there was a difference between being "Israel" and being "Jewish". Later in life, I moved to Israel and was invited to take part in my Orthodox Jewish relatives' bar mitzvahs and weddings, albeit from a distance. Because I was a believer in Yeshua, there were tables I could not sit at, and certain regulations I had to follow, remnants of ancient Phariseism that now personify modern Judaism. Through these experiences, I realized that these remnants, these ordinances and dogmas of men, were the rules and regulations that Yeshua continuously, deliberately, and vehemently violated. Those experiences helped me to understand "the Gospel of the Kingdom", to understand the distinction between the commandments of God and the rules of men (both Jew and gentile).

This distinction is not being made in Messianic faith today. As I did, those who wake from the slumber of their Christian faith realize that something is missing and begin a journey into their Hebrew roots. But these Gentiles often go too far to feel "more Jewish". They become what I refer to as JINOs: Jews In Name Only, ensnaring themselves in the trappings of Phariseism (i.e. modern Judaism) in an effort to be, as they see it, more like Yeshua. Ironically, they end up doing the opposite of what Yeshua said to do in Matthew 23:2-3. That is, to "do as the Pharisees tell you (when they read from the Torah) but don't do what they do (negate the Torah in favor of their man-made rules)."

This distinction must be reestablished and it's why I am taking you through the book of Acts in our current series on Shabbat Night Live, "Blindness of Gentiles - Volume 2". Quite simply, the blindness of the Gentiles is because of their nonadherence to the teachings of Yeshua. I invite you to join me this Friday on Shabbat Night Live so that, together, we can help to change this.

See you
when the smoke clears,

Michael Rood

RUSSIAN & GERMAN teachings COMING SOON!

THE CHRONOLOGICAL GOSPELS BIBLE IS NOW AVAILABLE IN FRENCH AND SPANISH FOR THE AMAZON KINDLE. SOON, OTHER VIDEO AND WRITTEN TEACHINGS WILL BE AVAILABLE IN RUSSIAN AND GERMAN!

Elena Sauber grew up in the Soviet Union. "We were not allowed to own or read the Bible or talk about God or go to church," she says. Today, living in Texas, Elena and her family have discovered the truth of Yeshua and attend a Messianic congregation. However, the information that ignited her faith is still rare in Russia. Elena wanted to do something about it.

"There is still very little information about the true Yeshua and the Hebrew roots of the Christian faith in Russia. The Russian people are hungry to know more," she says. "I felt led by the Holy Spirit to bring Michael Rood's teachings to the Russian people."

Elena has just completed the introduction section of The Chronological Gospels Bible in Russian and is now working on the rest of the book. "We are still fairly early in the process," she says. "But I want to make the book available in Russian as soon as possible."

Elena Sauber

Betty Handloser

As Elena works on The Chronological Gospels Bible in Russian, Betty Handloser is busy translating The Chronological Gospels Television Series (Season 2) into German.

"My journey in discovering the truth started with a gut-wrenching vision in 2012," Betty says. "Since then, the Holy Spirit has shown me truths I had never seen before – and for sure NEVER had been taught in my Christian upbringing!"

She felt very strongly that these teachings, especially those from Michael Rood, should be available to every believer, but there was nothing like them in German. So, she began translating them herself, starting with The Jonah Code.

"I knew that this kind of teaching would be scrutinized by most Christians, so I made sure to verify all biblical and historical evidence Michael mentioned for myself. I needed to be absolutely prepared to defend his teachings. I didn't want people to brush it off!"

After the first translation was finished, Betty reached out to A Rood Awakening to let us know what she had accomplished. We were thrilled to bring her on board as one of our translation volunteers; she is now working through Season 2 of The Chronological Gospels Television Series."

"IT IS A HUGE BLESSING FOR ME! IN TRYING TO EDUCATE OTHERS, I FEEL THAT I AM BEING TAUGHT THE MOST."

summer health tips by Scott Laird, ND

Do you ever think about which vitamin supplements to take in summer? If you're like me, probably not. Vitamins are for winter, right? In summer there are plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables for vitamin C and antioxidants, you're getting vitamin D in the sun, and replenishing your skin with a little vitamin E.

However, if you're on vacation, you're probably not eating at regular times and indulging in some snack foods you wouldn't normally buy. Not to mention, you're probably swimming in chlorinated water at the local swimming pool, and maybe even getting sunburn or two. The truth is, your body is under attack in summer just as much as it is in winter. Fresh foods will help alleviate the punishment, but did you know that wheat allergies increase during the summertime?

under attack in summer*

This is because vitamin F helps the body metabolize wheat (you may know vitamin F as linoleic acid, which comes from poly-unsaturated fats like olive oil, grape seed oil, and sunflower oil). When you get sunburned, the body sends all of its available vitamin F to the sunburned area to heal it. For some people, that triggers an allergy to wheat, which can appear to be a "summer cold". Suddenly it makes more sense why people put oil on their skin after being in the sun. Coconut oil is particularly helpful. The medium chain triglycerides (MCT oil) in coconut oil not only help the body heal from a sunburn, but help to ward off wheat allergies as a bonus.

This fact is not only interesting but a testament to the way YeHoVaH looks after us and why it makes sense to only eat foods that are in season. The fact that wheat is not harvested until the fall means that it's intended, primarily, to be eaten in fall, winter, and spring. During these seasons, the sun's rays are not powerful enough to create a sunburn, which would deplete your vitamin F, and thus trigger a wheat allergy.

Curiously, wheat does not grow well in the tropics (where sunburns are more common), but coconuts do – and coconuts just happen to have the fats your body needs to recover from a day in the sun. So, the lesson learned here is to eat local foods, eat what's in season, and your body will be prepared to deal with every season.
