

The REAL Story of Yeshua's Birth

If there's one Bible story we should get straight, it's Yeshua's birth – which was not on Christmas Day. Yeshua's birth was an intermediate fulfillment of Sukkot, also known as the Feast of Tabernacles or "mangers." Tabernacle and manger are the same word in Hebrew, the plural of which is sukkot, which means "temporary dwellings."

Yoseph, Yeshua's earthly father figure, was required to live in a sukkah (singular form of sukkot) during the entire seven-day feast of Sukkot. Although his pregnant wife Miriam was not required to live in the sukkah, available lodgings in Bethlehem were completely booked, so she joined Yoseph and, on the first day of the Feast of Sukkot, delivered her first-born son, Yeshua, in the sukkah. That is the moment when the Word was made flesh and sukkoted or tabernacled (i.e., "dwelt") among us. The shepherds were at the scene, but the "wise men" would not arrive for more than a year.

The Magi, a common term for Chaldean astronomers, were in fact the descendants of the Jewish astronomers that Daniel had trained; he was the overseer of all the astronomers in Babylon for more than 60 years. Following Daniel's instruction, the astronomers watched the skies for more than 500 years, searching for the great sign in the heavens for the one-time celestial alignment that would herald the upcoming birth of the King of Kings. They finally spotted it in 3 BCE, but the journey to visit him would take some time.

More than a year after their first sighting of "his star," the astronomers (and a heavily armed entourage, no doubt) arrived at the city gates of Jerusalem a few days before Hanukkah with their lavishly appointed caravan. And the gifts they brought? That also dates back to Daniel's time. Daniel was an extremely wealthy man, having served as satrap for three different kings. However, he was made a eunuch, so he had no direct descendant to whom he could bequeath his wealth – until, 500 years later, the executors of his will brought their treasure-laden caravan to Yeshua, who was now a 14-month-old toddler living in a "house" with his parents.

Yes, on the very night that Yoseph was commanded in a vision to take the child and his mother and flee (the night that Herod's orders to execute all male babies was issued), Daniel's treasure was delivered right to their door to fund their escape to Egypt. The Almighty is indeed the master of ALL details.

Connecting the DOTS of the EXODUS

with Dr. Miles Jones

Educators today say the Exodus never happened — but the rocks that prove it beg to differ.

Citing new evidence that connects the dots of history, Dr. Miles Jones reveals how the Exodus not only happened, but was the dawn of the world's first alphabet, which became the model for all others, including English!

Connecting The Dots of The Exodus sifts through the sands of time to uncover a treasure map of markers that suggest the Exodus not only happened the way the Bible says it did, but that its events influenced every written language to this day!

Joseph's Miracle

SPECIAL GUEST LOVE GIFT TEACHING
with Dr. Miles Jones

The biblical story of Joseph is packed with extraordinary events, but the most amazing part of the narrative is not even in the Bible.

Using archeoastronomy to cross-reference Egyptian history with the biblical record, Dr. Miles Jones reveals Joseph's Miracle — the ancient account of an innovation that has saved Egypt from famine throughout the centuries and remains in use to this day.

Matching exactly with the biblical record, the Egyptian record of Joseph's Miracle may forever change archaeology from a secular science to one that uses the Bible as its most accurate textbook.
