RESTORING THE HEBREW ROOTS OF THE CHRISTIAN FAITH

OCTOBER 2026

REHEARSING THE KINGDOM TO COME

Sukkot, also known as the Feast of Tabernacles, is one of the Almighty's appointed times, and like every one of His appointed times, it is far more than an ancient memorial. It is a prophetic rehearsal of things that the Messiah fulfills with extraordinary precision.

When Israel came out of Egypt, YeHoVaH commanded His people to dwell in temporary shelters so that generations would remember how He caused the children of Israel to dwell in booths when He brought them out of Egypt, literally dwelling among them.

In the Gospel record, John correlates this ancient rehearsal with Yeshua's earthly ministry, as the Word became flesh and "tabernacled" among us. Sukkot not only provides the framework for understanding the Messiah's first mission, but also His return to dwell with us again as King.

Sukkot, like all of YeHoVaH's commanded feasts, holds prophetic significance that reaches far beyond one ethnic group or denomination. It is not an empty ritual or simply a reminder of the past. It is an annual dress rehearsal that teaches us His plan of redemption and how to understand Scripture through the perspective of the Messiah and His Torah. It also opens a window to our future redemption.

Perhaps the most significant is the final event that often gets overlooked: Shmini Atzeret, the Eighth Day, or Last Great Day. It immediately follows Sukkot yet is a commemoration of its own that carries profound prophetic significance. Together, these appointed times point toward the coming Kingdom of Messiah, His reign upon the earth, the marriage supper of the Lamb, and ultimately the New Heaven and New Earth, when YeHoVaH will dwell with redeemed humanity forever.

Sukkot reminds us that this present age is temporary, but the Almighty's promise is eternal. We celebrate because the King is coming; indeed, His Kingdom is coming. And we rejoice because the day is coming when the temporary shadow will give way to an eternal reality.

Tares Among The Wheat

with Ryan Mauro

Just when you thought believers in Yeshua were on the same team, tares have matured among the wheat — and those who ignore geopolitics will blindly harvest a contaminated crop of deception.

Ryan Mauro delivers an urgent message to Torah-observant believers: pay as much attention to political podcasts as the weekly Torah portion, because modern headlines are the fruit of ancient prophecies.

Tares Among The Wheat will open your eyes to the anti-Semitic undertones of modern political rhetoric that are corralling gullible believers to the wrong side of history.

October Love Gift Collection

Recognizing the Antichrist will not be difficult for those who know their Bible — because the pattern of his character is well established throughout its pages.

In this exclusive teaching, Joel Richardson reveals the pattern of the man of lawlessness through both ancient history and modern headlines. Indeed, there is nothing new under the sun when prophecies of old match Israel's modern enemies.

This teaching is a must for those preparing their hearts and minds for the revealing of the evil one that Yeahua's true disciples already recognize.
